Age Policy

Our summer camps are designed for students at specific developmental stages based on each age group. Campers must be the required minimum age by the time camp begins to register. This is in fairness to others, as well as for the comfort and safety of all participants. We set our age ranges with care, and value both age-appropriate instruction and environments. Especially at younger ages, children tend to change developmentally over short time periods.

Behavior Policy

We strive to ensure every camper feels welcome and supported in all our programming. To promote consistent behavior expectations, we follow the “FISH” policy.

F = Follow instructions

I = Include everyone

S = Show respect

H = Help each other

If any child has difficulty meeting our behavior expectations, we will follow our three steps of check-in.

1. Check-in: conversation between camper and instructor. Student and instructor have a conversation reviewing rules and safety policies, identify the cause of problem or incident, and work together to problem-solve a strategy or alternative resolution.
2. Conversation with guardian/family: If action persists after check-ins between instructor and camper, staff will arrange a conversation with guardian/family regarding concerns and strategize or problem-solve an alternative resolution together. It will be communicated that if the action continues to be a concern, the camper will be asked to leave the next time it occurs.
3. Camp Dismissal: Camper may be dismissed if their behavior continues to prevent safe and effective participation in our programs. Dismissal may occur after conversation between guardian/family, camper and program staff.

Note: Confederation Centre has the discretion to dismiss a student immediately under appropriate circumstances.

Support Needs and Health Concerns

We are committed to making our programming accessible to all. To allow us to make appropriate accommodations, please inform Arts Education staff prior to the start of your child(ren)’s camp of any health concerns, including allergies and support needs. We will work with you to identify the necessary resources for your child. In some circumstances, due to staffing and physical space, limitations may impact our ability to accommodate specific needs.
